Dear Ms Magid,

Hereby I provide you with a version of your manuscript on cd-rom and in hardcopy from which information has been removed according to the criteria as mentioned in the letter of the Government Buildings Agency of 17 July 2008 (ref. DIV-2008-065885). In that letter the series of eighteen Letterpress prints, 11" x 17", 2008, were also discussed (to be referred to hereafter as 18 spies). It was stated that six of the eighteen works should exclusively be the property of the AIVD and in no form whatsoever be circulated, exhibited or reproduced. A recent conversation with an employee who was interviewed by you led to the conclusion that one work should be added to these six works. I apologize for this late adjustment. This is the list of the seven works, as identified by their first words:

1. He speaks like he is choking...
2. He is very tall and looks like Chewbacca...
3. He is a tall awkward man with a lopsided frame...
4. He seems bigger from afar...
5. She has short spiked hair...
6. He is thirty eight, tall with sideburns...
7. She is the incarnation of the reclining nude...

There are from our side no objections to expose the other eleven works of 18 spies.
